Product details

The Duty Range PPMO manikin is specially designed for PPMO sports tests. It comes with a harness to teach several gripp techniques.

The dummy can be handled very realistically: rescues with a Rautek grip or subsequent care in the recovery position are possible. The manikin is wearing a strong and solid rubber boots. Both can be replaced separately if damaged.

This Duty Range drill dummy by Ruth Lee has a realistic proportion between length and weight. The stuffing in the dummy is fixed and as a result all the limbs have a realistic weight that does not move around. The dummy is very solid and can be run over or fall from a high altitude without damaging. There is a strong loop at the back, which is handy when handling the dummy during preparations.

The Duty Range dummy can be used in exercise rooms where fire is used and can resist a temperature of up to 100 degree Celsius. For higher temperatures there are alternatives such as the Fire House Dummy or Fire Manikin.
