Turn your Duty Range manikin into a heavy-weight manikin

The water fillable suit adds weight and volume to your regular Duty Range manikin. This allows you to integrate a heavyweight manikin to the scenario in a limited space.

Create your scenario anytime, anywhere

First responders find themselves more and more confronted with obese victims in need of their help. The use of an obese manikin helps prepare your trainees for the many challenges that arise in such a case. However, not every scenario can host an obese manikin. If the staging has to be set up in a small room, a manikin of this size and volume isnt easy to enter. Those situations ask for a water fillable suit that can be put on your adult version Duty Range dummy. First, position the manikin, and then fill the suit up with water. The suit can hold a total of 150 kilos of water. A 50-kilo manikin will weigh up to 200 kilo. The triple sewed seams make sure the manikin wont be leaking.

The water fillable suit is also convenient if an instructor has to stage an obese manikin-scenario by himself. Think about it: lifting an obese
