Spray with a chemical smell

The FireWare Chemical Smell Spray is a spray can that contains a chemical scent. The spray is comparable to an air freshener and has a large effect on the reality level of an exercise. Scent is often the first sign people notice about a possible fire. The sense of smell is stimulated and immediately makes a student focus. Scent also often plays an important role in localising an accident.

You can for example use the Chemical Smell Spray during an exercise involving a gas leak or a chemical leak. Spray the stage location in advance and also some on the road there. Teach your students that using their sense of smell will help them to localise the accident.
